

O'Henry's RESTAURANT

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

Our tradition of exceptional guest service continues here at the Best Western Greenfield Inn, with the great food of O'Henry's Restaurant, and your favorite beverages from Squire's Pub. Please share our historic architecture, visit the collection of classic automobile prints that line our halls, and enjoy our old world hospitality. The collection of antiques and unique architecture that decorate O'Henry's Restaurant and Squire's Pub help maintain the elegance and warmth of the Victorian Era. Some comment that our antiques rival those found in the Henry Ford Museum. Coincidentally, Henry and Clara Ford once owned the land on which this establishment is built, and O'Henry's Restaurant is named after Henry Ford himself!

The woodwork in the library is originally from a mansion in Belgium. For our porch, we were fortunate to find the matching stained glass panels. The elaborately carved entry hutch, originally from Germany, was hand carved by a skilled Victorian craftsman.

The black walnut paneled walls in the lounge and dining room were retrieved when a world-famous hotel in Montreal, Quebec closed its doors.

For those special occasions, we offer our Packard Room. This beautiful private room can seat up to 50 people, and is adorned with the original wood paneling from the executive offices of the first Packard automobile plant.

We hope that you will enjoy our worldly accents, and join us often! We welcome your comments about your experience. If there is something we can do to make your dining experiences more pleasurable, we want to know about it!
